Canadian Western Agribition Brings New Programming

REGINA, SASKATCHEWAN – In anticipation of big crowds, Canadian Western Agribition (CWA) is introducing new events never before seen at the show. With over 90 events in six days, CWA provides something for everyone.

Full Contact Jousting will feature Shane Adams and the Knights of Valour in Agribition's first ever head to head tournament of horse, iron, and medieval skill.

The Chore Team Events will bring competitors from across Saskatchewan in a test of skill, agility, and speed.

"Entries for the Chore Team Events have exceeded our expectations," says Bill Aulie, Committee Chair, CWA. "I'm looking forward to seeing our youngest competitor, Marty Bertram of only 13 years old from Climax."

In addition to new programming, organizers will continue to offer live music and expanded trade show hours to include late night shopping Thursday, November 27th, from 5:00 pm to 9:00 pm.

"The organization works hard to bring programming that appeals to a variety of audiences," notes Reed Andrew, President of CWA. "We hope these additions will entertain our existing visitors while attracting new ones."

In addition to these new events, CWA will be hosting two conferences:

- Grain Expo: two-day conference for grain farmers including an extensive agribusiness trade show, held at the Queensbury Convention Centre Tuesday, November 25 and Wednesday, November 26.
- Indigenous Agriculture Summit: two-day conference uniting agricultural Indigenous leaders from across North America held at the Ramada Plaza Tuesday, November 25 and Wednesday, November 26.

The anchor of CWA's entertainment program includes the CCA Finals Rodeo. Tickets can be purchased online at ticketmaster.ca.
